Zazu Bear's Egg, I'm Getting Fat (Again) and Killer Deals...

Our first female parrot.

She's the red one

Think of Mike Tyson in a parrot.

Then add rage.

She's Awesome

I'm so inspired by her attitude.

For a few days she was really quiet, then in the middle of the night... she shouted.

She had her first egg

A few days later there was another one.

Then another.

She has not been "impregnated" though

But that may change if Eago gets more into her... childish pun.

I felt so bad because of the pain she felt and not knowing exactly what was happening.

But she's GROWING up

It's exciting, and really touching.

I'll make sure you stay updated.

On another NOTE

Some of you may remember the (Friendly) Fight Clubs that we've started -

Running them is fun as hell...

But I've neglected my workouts (cracked ribs didn't help) and we had a cook who has a strict belief system:

Global warming is BS, Obama was born in an African village and delivered by a witch doctor and...

Healthy cooking is for "fags"

So I've been having stuff I haven't eaten in over a year. Man...

Bad News Bears

I've gained some weight back.

I know, I know - cakes, chocolate and cookies... my Achilles Heel.

I'm SNAPPING BACK

Need to quit pulling Tubs (that's what we call overeating) -

EMPIRE EPISODES:

A million dollar Model shared with Builders. A brand new one every month. These have never been made available like this before.

Others have paid (and still pay) over $30,000, $50,000, $100,000 and more for just one of these Models.

HERE'S THIS MONTH'S...

Pulling in $10,000 - $30,000 by helping your favorite charities, organizations and/or non-profit groups...

... this is (yet another) unheard of Model.

Imagine going from ZERO to having furnished offices, a full-time staff and even housing, in less than 24 hours and with nothing out of pocket - Badass...

Only available to Builders.

Have a story you think should be covered here?

Send it in, we'd love to hear from you.

In the news...

Rebecca Black: a lesson in negativity -

This 13 year old sang 'Friday' and did a music video which got over 90 million YouTube hits in less than 60 days. Critics and fans have called it the "worst song/video ever". Black has appeared on international television and been asked to address sharp criticisms.

Link | Interviews Link Link There should be more of THIS.

Azam says... I could write all day long about this. Miley Cyrus was quoted as saying something like it should take more than a "YouTube video" to get famous, some lady who interviewed Charlie Sheen at his house read unflattering comments to Rebecca during her interview with her and even Jay Leno played parodies to get her reaction when he had her on his show.

It's one thing for kids to be nasty - but adults and "celebrities"? Unreal.

WHAT THE FU!?!? This is an unreal display of ugliness, this is a testament to the dark side of humanity - I'm not joking. Where's the support of a young girl trying to make things happen? I think she's beautiful and she has handled the negativity so impressively well, I was shocked - the videos she did for Will Ferrell's Funny or Die prove that she can act and take a joke. More on this later - for now, if you're a Rebecca-Hater - you MUST be a miserable person. Think of this when people try telling you what's "realistic" or socially acceptable - fu the masses and their Marathon of Mediocrity.

Banks Are Closing at Record Speed... Opportunity? -

Banks in poor and middle-class neighborhoods are closing doors, while many banks in more affluent areas are expanding. This is creating a "black hole" for many residents who have less access to banking services, loans, etc. Analysts predict that "predatory lenders" such as check cashing and payday loan providers will see a dramatic increase in business.

Azam says... These are the kinds of articles (and realities) that are being used right now by The Kids to start "mini-banks" and use volunteer organizations to raise/lend money. There is a HUGE need here, and it's only growing. Leveraged efforts with groups is also a great way to create spreads by getting special pricing and terms from landlords, sellers, property managers, etc.

Example: a church raises money to lend to buyers and you arrange a split on the spread BUT you also leverage the church and their networks in your dialog to get lower rent/prices and better terms. This creates an even larger spread. Huge opportunity here, this article is a great tool in that arsenal...

Love Story: Woman Slowly Turning to Stone -

Rachel Winnard, 26, has Fibrodysplasia Ossificans Progressiva, an extremely rare disease that gradually turns muscle and tendons into bone. There is no known cure and she is already becoming increasingly paralyzed, many with this condition have to choose whether they want to sit or stand for the rest of their lives. Rachel proposed and got married recently as she wanted to walk down her aisle before she was totally paralyzed and now her and her husband will attempt to have a baby. This will risk Rachel's life, but she says she wants to do as much as possible with her time. Her life expectancy is less than 10 years from now.

Azam says... So I'm a bit of a hopeless romantic, I love stories like this and I wanted to include at least some promise from humanity to help balance the Rebecca Black treacherousness. Think things are "hard" for you? Remember Rachel and think twice before complaining about ANYTHING.

Gratitude.

Rachel Winnard = Badass.

If There's Hope for a "Negro Seller"...

John had a booming business

He was captain of his very own slave ship.

He started as a young man and worked his way up - selling slaves and pocketing nice profits.

One day everything changed

He got caught in the worst sea storm of his life. Not very religious, he began to rethink things...

As the waves crashed, the boat rocked and he was sure of his "inevitable doom" -

He got on his knees and PRAYED to God

The storm died down.

John saw this as a sign.

He devoted his life to God

The day was May 10th, 1748.

John eventually left the slave trade business, spoke out against slavery and preached his message.

He fought to become a minister

Given his past he had to fight hard for it, but soon he became a campaigner of human rights.

For over 40 years

He ran his ministry.

He lived to see the abolition in Britain that he fought for.

He was also a writer

And he wrote something to symbolize his change.

This message would last hundreds of years, unite masses and inspire millions.

Here's how it goes...

*Amazing Grace, how sweet the sound,
That save a wretch like me.*

*I once was lost, but now am found,
Was blind, but now I see.*

Penned by John Newton

His social contribution was much more than he's remembered for - he is credited with giving HOPE that people can change - ANYBODY.

Super Fast Way to Double Income?

Thomas and Ashley Roberts sent this in...

He has been a full-time manager at a car wash for the last three years.

He watched this Episode...

A "dozen" times -

Then went to his bosses with the idea of segmenting their client list and isolating the BIGGEST and BADDAST buyers.

It took less than a day

Thomas determined their cars and the neighborhoods they lived.

He did two things -

Targeted those neighborhoods with their flyers and - starting building his VIP list.

In less than 30 days - and withOUT spending an extra penny...

He has more than doubled his income - as much as -

An extra $1,500 a Week

His arrangement is to get a cut of the extra business he generates.

This is so simple to do that it's scary.

He should be leaving his job by the end of the month

Congrats Thomas.

Challenge; approach a car wash business and use MFM-Badassery to put this in place for them.

I love it

By the way...

The Episode Thomas learned this from is here.

This is ONLY the TIP of the iceberg...

Thomas I'm expecting to hear that you OWN that car wash chain...

Directly from within the community...

We weren't sure how to do this, and this may change since so many wanted to be a part of this. So to be fair random screenshots will be taken and posted here as an "inside look" at what's happening in the community.

MEN'S HEALTH

Man's Penis Amputated After Wrong Diagnosis

Published December 30, 2010 | NewsCore

A Swedish man's penis was amputated due to complications with cancer after he was initially misdiagnosed with inflammation and then had to wait months for a hospital appointment. Swedish news website The Local reported.

The man, who is in his 60s, first visited a clinic in southern Sweden in September 2009 to be treated for a urinary tract infection, but he returned a few months later complaining of more irritation.

The doctor on duty diagnosed the problem as inflammation. But after three weeks of unalleviated irritation, the patient was instructed to seek further treatment at a hospital.

By the time his appointment rolled around -- five months later -- doctors told him he had cancer and his penis would have to be amputated.

It was unclear if the man would have been able to avoid amputation had the cancer been detected earlier, but the case was referred to Sweden's National Board of Health and Welfare, which reviews reports of injuries and malpractice in the country's health care system.
